Works

Leading & Navigating Change is an Important Capability

Change leadership is an important capability in an environment where volatility and uncertainty are the new normal. Today's business leaders are called upon to steer their organizations through constant disruption and ambiguity. World class leadership development strategies recognize that the ability to navigate complex changing business environments is the new standard for success. Developing change leaders to improve their opportunities for success can be achieved by exploring their personal change preferences as well as understanding the change preferences of others.

Change Leadership Styles

The Change Style Indicator® (CSI) Indicator is a world renowned leadership assessment designed to measure an individual's preferred change style. It explains three change styles preferences and helps leaders at all levels with insights on managing through change and understanding for how those around them might perceive and respond to their style. The assessment is research based and has been validated with over 180,000 global professionals.

CSI can be used by people to improve interpersonal communication and understanding, improve team work, enable group creativity and innovation, increase collaboration and realize the values of all perspectives when working on challenges and opportunities in a rapidly changing workplace.

The workshop is an interactive, experiential based session involving the CSI assessment, group discussion and activities, and global research and workplace tools.
