Leading with Emotional Intelligence

A Pathway to Exceptional

“Success in the new economy requires new skills. Business leaders and professionals are transforming themselves to excel not only in the traditional attributes of strategic leadership and business acumen but emotional resilience and self-awareness”

~ Daniel Goleman, Harvard Business Review

The EQ-i 2.0 Framework

Emotional intelligence is the unique repertoire of emotional skills that a person uses to navigate the everyday challenges of life. Research has demonstrated that an individual's EI or (EQ) is often a more accurate predictor of success than the individual's IQ. No matter how intellectually intelligent someone is, their success is still governed by how well they communicate their ideas and interact with their peers.

Based on the original BarOn EQ-i authored by Reuven Bar-On, copyright 1997.

The EQ-i^{2.0} measures five distinct aspects of emotional and social functioning:

- Self-Perception – understanding your emotions
- Self-Expression – expressing your emotions
- Interpersonal – develop and maintain relationships
- Decision Making – use emotions to make better decisions
- Stress Management – cope with challenges and be more resilient when navigating changes

Leaders will leave this learning session with greater clarity on their emotional self awareness and better equipped for expressing bravely, building productive relationships, and using emotions effectively when making decisions and dealing in stressful situations.

Improving Emotional Intelligence will not only help leaders be more successful at work, but outside of work too!

Using the EQ-I as the framework tool leaders get:

- An overall EQ-i^{2.0} leadership report result, as well as individual results for each component of the EQ-i framework.
- A proven and predictable way to accurately assess strengths and blind spots.
- A learning session for developing strategies and emotional intelligence effectiveness in order to improve performance.
- A customized action plan in order to ensure there is focus on the right EQ-i development needs.

Logistics
